

DBTAC programs are responsible for providing information on the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA). Programs vary in each region, but all Centers provide the following:

- Technical Assistance
- Education and Training
- Materials Dissemination
- Information and Referral
- Public Awareness
- Local Capacity Building

Call your regional Center for direct, useful, and confidential information.

The National Institute on Disability and Rehabilitation Research (NIDRR) of the U.S. Department of Education funds a network of grantees to provide information, training, and technical assistance to businesses, state and local government agencies, persons with disabilities, architects, code officials, schools, and many other entities with rights and responsibilities under the ADA. The Disability and Business Technical Assistance Centers (DBTACs) provide services on all aspects of the ADA.

The National Institute on Disability and Rehabilitation Research (NIDRR) has established ten regional Centers to provide information, training, and technical assistance to employers, people with disabilities, and other entities with responsibilities under the ADA. The Centers act as a “one-stop” comprehensive resource on ADA issues in employment, public services, public accommodations, and communications. Each Center works closely with local business, disability, governmental, rehabilitation, and other professional networks to provide ADA information and assistance.
